Characteristics

NEODUST is a ready-to-use powdered insecticide for the fight against crawling insects such as cockroaches, ants, fleas, ticks and red mites. The product is effective on porous and non-porous surfaces. The active ingredients permethrin and piperonyl butoxide give the product a duration of action and rapid killing. The NEODUST formulation contains denatonium benzoate, a bitter substance designed to reduce the risk of accidental ingestion by children.

It can be used effectively for the disinfestation of buildings for civil, industrial, agricultural, zootechnical use (farms, stables), animal shelters (in the absence of animals), homes, schools, deposits, warehouses, gyms, barracks, cinemas, theaters, waiting rooms in stations and airports. Tourist villages (bungalows, camping, caravans and closed verandas). Canteens, kitchens, hotels, restaurants, food industries (in the absence of food). Hospitals, nursing homes, retirement homes etc. Means of transport: railway carriages, trams, coaches, sea transport vehicles and means of transport for cables and electrical panels, drains, cesspools, imhoff pit.

Methods and doses of use

Apply the product directly from the package or through a special spreader evenly in cracks and crevices and in the perimeters or where the infestation must be eliminated.

The application of the product as it is is allowed in confined, inaccessible environments (e.g. warehouses, cavities, electrical panels, drains, behind furniture or appliances). Use 10 g of product per 1 m² of surface for cockroaches, fleas, ants and red mites. Use 12 g of product per 1 m² of surface for ticks. The product is effective for at least 4 weeks.

In treatments for fleas and ticks control, the product should not be used directly on the animal but in places where dogs or cats stay.
